

Summary

A manufacturing method and a micromechanical component are provided in which porous silicon (106) is used as sacrificial layer and a functional layer (130) is exposed by etching off the sacrificial layer.